

Lain Barclay

The University of Georgia | Economics Major

How has SPORT taught you the importance of goal setting in your life?

Golf has taught me the importance of setting high goals. It has taught me to not get discouraged by the bogeys in life, but to simply buckle down and strive for pars and birdies. Goal setting has forced me outside of my comfort zone and has helped me achieve more than I thought I could.

When have you used your personal CONFIDENCE that you developed through sport to help you in a situation in school or in life?

Sport has given me confidence in various situations at school. Namely, sports have shown me that something isn't over until it's over. This can be shown by grinding during the last weeks of the school year and turning that borderline C in a class into a B.

What do you hope to GAIN during your internship this summer?

I hope to gain an appreciation for the joy golf can bring to others. It's easy to forget how exciting hitting that first good golf shot can be. I hope to see a few kids have that experience this summer.