

Luke Guenther

The University of Georgia | Communications Studies Major

How has SPORT taught you the importance of goal setting in your life?

Golf has taught me that clear goal setting leads to faster and better achievement of set goals. In life, when I see and know where I want to be, the steps for getting there become clear. All it takes after that is a passion and desire to achieve your dreams.

When have you used your personal CONFIDENCE that you developed through sport to help you in a situation in school or in life?

Often in sports (especially golf), your mentality is just as important as what you do physically. Standing at the free throw line in basketball and knowing that I can make the shot often gives me a better chance of making it. When taking a test or doing an interview, telling myself that I can succeed and knowing it in my heart often pushes me to do better.

What do you hope to GAIN during your internship this summer?

I hope to gain knowledge on how nonprofits function and serve the desired population. I hope to gain leadership experience working with children of every background. I hope to create lasting relationships with my peers and help push each other to achieve greatness.